Antique French eight day striking clock in brass case, with mercury pendulum by Le Roy et Fils, Paris, inscribed to top & presented to Miss Stephens of the Stephens Ink family. July 1886, W. Ex Henry Charles "Inky" Stephens (February 1841 – July 1918), approx 33cm H (inscription reads as follows: "To Miss Stephens, Avenue House, Finchley. The employees of the factories at Hollowway & Lambeth and of The Counting House, Aldersgate, Saint ? most respectfully congratulate Miss Stephens on her approaching marriage and they sincerely trust that her married life will be attended with every happiness. They have much pleasure in sending a clock, which they trust she will accept as a small token of their regard and esteem. 12th of July 1886")		(THIS ITEM HAS BEEN SOLD BY PRIVATE TREATY PRE AUCTION-THE VENDOR HAS ACCEPTED AND INSTRUCTED US TO ACCEPT THE OFFER) - Important Turkish Shamsir with scabbard of late 17th/early 18th century date, and of museum quality, 96cm overall with 80cm curved blade. The blade of superbly patterned watered steel and is curved in the Turkish style which requires the rear of the scabbard to have an opening at the top: inscribed with a cartouche bearing makers particulars and the date AH182, which is to be read as AH1082 (AD1671). The grip scales are of Rhinoceros horn with correct silver brocade wrapping. The scabbard is of green velvet covered wood with gold damascened chape, locket, two suspension rings and inner seam covering. The tang cover and quillon block are en suite. The mounts have floral and geometric decoration and Islamic inscriptions (My faith is in God, So God wills it, etc.). The quillons with pierced flattened tips are more commonly found on Persian swords and tend to date from the early 18th century. Complete with it's green velvet covered suspension system which has two large embroidered bosses and terminates in embroidered olives, embroidered sword knot and embroidered strap to retain the sword in it's scabbard. The sword is illustrated in the major reference "Islamic and Oriental Arms and Armour" by Robert Hales (plate 533). A good heavy fighting sword which hangs edge uppermost when suspended as is

correct. Exceptionally complete. (THIS ITEM HAS BEEN SOLD BY PRIVATE TREATY PRE AUCTION-THE VENDOR HAS ACCEPTED AND INSTRUCTED US TO ACCEPT THE OFFER) - A important and rare North Indian pesh kabz of late 18th century date and of museum quality, approx 44cm overall with 31cm blade. The blade of finest watered steel is of very pronounced T section with the back being 13mm in width at the base, the whole of the back being finely chiselled with interlaced foliage and arabesques to highest standard, as is the forte on both faces. The upper face of the exposed tang is also 13mm in width and has chiselling en suite. The grip scales are of walrus ivory (morse) with excellent colour and patination. The velvet covered scabbard has silver mounts in green and blue enamel of the highest quality, these colours being traditionally worked at Lucknow. There are pierced silver locketts at the pommel and on the upper scabbard mount. This pesh kabz is illustrated in the major reference "Islamic and Oriental arms and Armour" by Robert Hales (plate 925). The most remarkable feature of this pesh kabz is the chiselling on the back of the blade, this being of the finest quality ever produced.(Please note Relisted due to a non paying Bidder)		(THIS ITEM HAS BEEN SOLD BY PRIVATE TREATY PRE AUCTION-THE VENDOR HAS ACCEPTED AND INSTRUCTED US TO ACCEPT THE OFFER) - Important Persian shamshir with scabbard, suspension straps and belt of late 18th century date and of museum quality, 95cm overall with 82cm curved blade. The heavy blade is of superbly patterned watered steel and is curved in the Persian style, The grips scales are of morse (walrus ivory). The scabbard is of very well embossed black leather covered wood, The hilt, scabbard and belt mounts are en suite and of gold decorated watered steel, they consist of a chape, two suspension loops with rings, a cross guard, a pommel, two suspension discs an a three piece buckle which terminates in stylised duck's heads. The suspension straps and belt are of woven brocade which incorporates gold thread. It is rare to find sword, belt and suspension mounts en suite and even rarer to find them all in watered steel.
